

Little League Players To Register Tomorrow

Presidents of Brownsville's East and West Little Leagues Saturday reminded all eligible youngsters that Monday is the time for newcomers interesting in playing in the Little League this year to fill out official forms.

Interested players who did not participate in the sport last year, or youngsters who were not assigned to a regular team must fill out the forms before they will be allowed to play.

Prospective players living east of the 7th St.-Paredes Line Road boundary will be assigned to the East League while players living to the west of the boundary will play with the West League. Youngsters eligible to participate in the East League should report to the Kiwanis Little League Park in Fort Brown, while players eligible for the West League must report to the West Brownsville Lions Little League park near Lions Field. All prospects should report at 5 p.m.

Registration must be made before the prospects will be allowed to participate in the tryouts. Registrations and tryouts will last for two weeks.

The player auction will be held by May 3. Opening date has been set for May 18.

Gus Vano is president of the West Little League, sponsored by the West Brownsville Lions while Barney Hale is president of the East League sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.
