

Little Loop Exhibition On Tonight

Brownsville's Little Leaguers take over Lions Park tonight for what may be a preview of the final city playoffs with a first game scheduled for 6 p. m.

The opener matches the Brownsville Herald and Pan American Bank, second placers in the Kiwanis and West Lions Little Leagues respectively.

In the nightcap, Kiwanis and West Brownsville Lions, first-half champions of their respective circuits tangle in what could be a warmup for the championship playoffs.

Kiwanis is still undefeated through the first five games of second half play to lead the eastern half of the city and the Lions are tied for the western half lead in second half competition with four wins and one loss.

The exhibition double header was originally scheduled last month but was postponed because of rain and wet grounds. There will be no admission charge for the games and the public is encouraged to attend.

This is the first year of Little League operation in Brownsville and the local setup includes two four-team leagues.
